Texts whom puts words on what happened

Cry

R: Why? How could anyone put out all the stars on my heaven?
Nobody. No one left. No one who saw. No one who watched.
No words. No meaning. No God?
With all of me I am surrounded by all I can't understand
Can I name evil? Can I endure? Can I hope?
God, I do not let go of you.

C: Kyrie eleison, kyrie eleison. Kyrie eleison, have compassion

R: God, listen to my voice when I complain!
Protect my life against what frightens me! (Psalms 64:2)
My sighs is my only food, my groans pour out like water.
Whatever I fear comes true. Whatever I dread befalls me.
For me, there is no calm, no peace. (Job 3:24-26)

C: Kyrie eleison, kyrie eleison. Kyrie eleison, have compassion.

R: Wake up God! Why do you sleep? Wake up! Why do you hide your face?
Rise up and come to our help. In your faithfulness, deliver us. (Psalms 44:24-27)
Before you bless us, we do not let go of you, God.

C: Kyrie eleison, kyrie eleison. Kyrie eleison, have compassion.

Symbolic act 1 A tree of hope

R: *So much is broken, so much is destroyed.
People have done damage.*

P: Here are pieces of broken glass, symbol of what is destroyed in life.
Help yourself to pieces of broken glass.

C: Let not what is broken be destroyed any more Let us grow and live.

R: *God – so many have trampled on and not respected borders.
People have done wrong.*

P: Here are small bushes of chaos made by wire, symbol of what gets chaotic in life, when borders are not respected.
Help yourself to wire from the bushes of chaos.

C: Let not what is broken be destroyed any more. Let us grow and live.

R: *What was broken and destroyed was not recognized.
People have failed.*

P: Here is a tree – a tree of life, a tree for growth and possibilities, a tree of hope.
If we want, we may put pieces of broken glass and wire from the bushes of chaos together.
We may fasten it to the tree of hope, as a wish for life and growth also for what is broken and destroyed.

C: Let not what is broken be destroyed any more. Let us grow and live.

Symbolic act 2 Lighting of candles

P: Here is our place. To this place we may come with everything that is ours. If we want, we may light candles and mark the candles in our own way, with colours of our own choice. In this way we may make visible some of what is ours.

I believe in Jesus who strengthens what is good in life.
I believe in the Holy Spirit who gives freedom of acting and resting.
We believe in a church that needs to listen to our voice.

Blessing

P: Receive the blessing.
The God who embraces us with respectful love and care.
The God who gives dignity and freedom.
That God bless us now and for ever.
Amen.

Act of dignity Sharing pearls

Listen to the prophet Isaiah:

*In your darkness I shall give you treasures In hidden places you shall find wealth.
I am your God who call you by your name.*

L: Here is a collection of treasures, many kinds of pearls.
What creates the pearl is something alien and irritating that the mussel wants to push away. But every pearl is created in darkness and becomes a pearl in the closed mussel. When the pearl is found it has become a treasure. When the light shines on the pearls they reflect God's heaven. It is a symbol of freedom and dignity.

L: We send forward a box with many kinds of pearls.
Choose the pearl you want and then give the box to the person next to you.

Words of distribution:

In your darkness I shall give you treasures.
